To whom it may concern

HHC Health & Home Care (H&HC) has been a devoted customer of Select Data since 2002. During this time, Select Data, under the leadership of Edward Buckley, CEO, has provided H&HC with revenue cycle management, billing, coding, accounts receivable management and scanning along with exemplary customer service. Select Data boasts an extraordinary array of professionals to work with daily to help provide these services. The Select Data staff have become the shining star of our back office operations. Contributing on a daily basis to H&HC's "think tank", they are a true value added to our business relationship.

During our years of doing business with Select Data, they have been amazingly receptive to ideas to customize and embellish the services they provide. Their concern for industry issues and trends is ever present as they frequently provide learning sessions for our staff on areas which are of paramount concern to the home health arena. Their entrepreneurial business style continues to keep them at the top of their game in the home health industry, always designing products and services which address the changing needs and concerns of home care providers.

Without reservation I can confidently recommend the services of Select Data to any home care business challenged by the changing face of health care today.

Yours truly,

Ann M. Frisch, RN, BSN, MBA
